It definitely works out best to have your cell phones programmed to receive and make phone calls in Mexico. This means you're just a call away from loved ones. You need to make certain, in order to send and receive calls in Mexico to have your cell phone set for this by your provider before you leave for Mexico.

Also, we generally loan group leaders a "loaner" cell phone if the cell they bring doesn't work in Mexico. This cell phone # can be given as well to loved ones back home for emergency use as well.

In the event you don't have this capability, or just want to have contact info, just in case, here's the phone number of the mission base. We usually answer the phone in Spanish, but just talk in English and we'll know what's going on.

For those of you back home, rest assured that your loved one is in the hands of God and in the hands of Long Term Missionaries. We'll watch closely over them and will give them a well rounded orientation meeting that includes some important tips on safety. There are also close-by hospitals for you peace of mind as well.
